

Cetis achieve NEC Best Complementary Solution Partner award

NEC's EMEA Partner Conference 2015 in Athens radiates enthusiasm and commitment

Athens, Hilversum, 8 June 2015 – At the NEC EMEA Partner Conference 2015 held in Athens, Greece, from the 3rd until the 5th of June, NEC, leading network and IT solutions provider, awarded its top performing business partners addressing the enterprise market with IT & Communication solutions for their excellent business performance over the past year.

At the conference, which brought together NEC's major distributors and key business partners from over 40 countries across EMEA (Europe, Middle East & Africa), Paul Kievit, President at NEC Enterprise Solutions, expressed his appreciation for the strong commitment the business partners have shown and congratulated them with their significant achievements across many territories. NEC's growing market penetration and expanding partner community was reflected in the increased number of participants, this year some 300 attendees from different partner organizations across the region.

"It is immensely inspiring to experience the enthusiasm of our business partners for our brand, our portfolio and our way of working", said Paul Kievit, President of NEC Enterprise Solutions. "The awards we are presenting are recognition of our mutual commitment and business success. We look forward to a fruitful continuation of the way we are serving EMEA Enterprise IT & Communications markets together", Kievit stated.

During a special Gala Dinner, Cetis received the NEC Best Complementary Solution Partner award.

"With the innovative power of a global leader and the energetic support of local organizations and highly professional channel partners, NEC is in an excellent position to respond to the most demanding needs of customers", Kievit concluded.
